AOZHOUHAIGUI.COM

Aozhouhaigui.com is an online HR tool that connects graduates exclusively from the Australian Group of Eight (Go8) Universities with AustCham and Chinese Chamber of International Commerce (CCOIC) member companies.

The system will be available to: All graduates from participating Go8 Australian universities; All 270 AustCham and 50,000 CCOIC member companies from across the China.

Aozhouhaigui.com will operate whereby: Graduates create a profile and upload their qualifications; AustCham and CCOIC member companies search for graduates that meet their personnel requirements; Companies can initiate a conversation about job opportunities with students through the Aozhouhaigui.com platform.

This system meets the particular needs that we've identified through our work: Students, particularly PRC nationals wishing to return to China, will be able to effectively connect with employers looking for bilingual graduates that have an understanding of Australia; Companies, particularly those without established graduate programs in China, will be able to find graduates that meet the requirements of their companies that understand the Australian culture; Universities can offer this as another benefit for PRC students already enrolled, and prospective students.

The Aozhouhaigui.com will be free for both the students and member companies. We are creating this non-profit service to deliver additional benefits to our members, who often find recruiting high-quality bilingual graduates to be difficult. We are also creating this tool to serve students with a connection to China, who are graduating from Go8 universities and planning to become part of the China-Australia business community.
